Another Conference Necessary on Proposal to Extend Draft to Youths Becoming 21 Since June 5, 1917.

Washington, D. C., May 10.—Legislation desired by the war department to perfect its selective draft machinery to-day was a step nearer completion in Congress.

Approved by the House yesterday, the conference report on the bill to base the draft quota on the number of men in class one was sent to the Senate for action. The House adopted the report after eliminating its amendment authorizing credits on quotas for volunteers.

The conference approved of a Senate amendment exempting divinity and medical students, in the bill providing registration of youths attaining 18 years of age 21 years since June 5 last, however, caused the House to send the measure back to the conferees.

Both Horses and Brains Need Exercise.

The editor of the American Magazine says in the April number:

"Some men stay asleep on their jobs—no matter whether they are strap-hangers in New York or stove-keepers in Manistee. The main thing is to wake up. That is what this man did. He woke up and shook himself into a state of rigid self-examination and overhauling. That is good for anybody once in a while. One of the most wonderful things about this war is the fact that it is stirring people to think, and to think hard, about all sorts of questions. Such mental exercise has not been indulged in by the human race in generations."

"Beyond the shadow of a doubt the men who do big things differ from those who don't chiefly in the activity of their minds. The big doers keep up a continual mental struggle—collecting and absorbing new facts, studying to understand them, trying to put two and two together—until out of this activity they hit upon good practical ideas which they see clearly. No mentally lazy man ever had a really good idea. You can't get good ideas that way. Good ideas are born in brains that keep working. You can't take a fat horse out of a stall where it has been locked up a long time, and expect it to win a race. Neither can you expect a lazy brain to get out on the track suddenly and make much of a record. Both horses and brains thrive on exercise."

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
